Index Volume 1, 1969

		Page
Presidential Address: The lighting designer	H. H. Ballin	1
European practice in the integration of lighting, air conditioning and acoustics in offices	B. Steck	8
Electrical space conditioning in the USA	R. T. Dorsey	24
The role of the level and diversity of horizontal illumination in an appraisal of a simple office task	J. E. Saunders	37
National Illumination Committee of Great Britain Annual Report		47
Diamond Jubilee Lecture: Light and the community
Part 1: The evolution of electric lamps	A. H. Willoughby	69
Part 2: The growth of lighting	J. M. Waldram	78
Colour in the interior environment	Masao Inui	86
Radiometric photometry—a review of the situation	J. S. Preston	95
The optimum operating gas pressure for incandescent tungsten filament lamps	J. R. Coaton	98
Lighting for colour television	K. R. Ackerman	123
Designing for quality as a routine	W. K. Lumsden & D. G. D. Halifax	136
Lighting: the metric 'seventies	G. V. McNeill	148
A review of present requirements for road vehicle lighting and signalling	D. L. Judd	161
Brightness—a review of current knowledge	A. M. Marsden	171
Development of ballasts and circuits for discharge lamps:
Part 1: Materials, methods of construction and manufacturing techniques	W. R. Bloxsidge	199
Part 2: Circuits	P. D. Parker	207
Part 3: Characteristics, measurements and standards	I. F. Davies	216
A new method of assessment of discomfort glare	H. D. Einhorn	235
Introduction of the International Practical Temperature Scale 1968: some effects in relation to light sources, colour temperature, and colorimetry	J. S. Preston	248
On the relationship between the visual threshold and the size of the surrounding field	W. Adrian & K. Eberbach	251

Research notes

The effect of polarisation of light on the photometry of lighting fittings	L. Morren	53
Vision through meshes	A. R. Hill	54
On chromatic adaptation	H. G. Wagner	56
Measurement of visual adaptation—preliminary experiments	H. E. Bellchambers, G. K. Lambert & R. J. Walsingham	104
An investigation of glare from white and yellow sources	A. E. Smart	106
A summary of some researches on flashing light signals	B. N. Kishto	109
A method of scaling judgments	P. Haubner	182
Luminance transmittance of glass	C. L. Gupta & E. R. Ballantyne	183
A stable high purity ultraviolet source	National Bureau of Standards Washington DC, USA	185
Words for lighting appraisals	Susan P. Dawe & A. M. Marsden	255
Seeing and the degree of glare	T. R. Rodseth	257
Illumination, colour rendering and visual clarity	Sheila M. Aston & H. E. Bellchambers	259

Research in progress

Imperial College of Science and Technology 58
Osram-GEC Research Laboratories 59
University College, London 111
The Building Research Station 113
Loughborough University of Technology 187
Nottingham University 188
Thorn Lighting Research and Engineering Laboratories 262

Abstracts 61, 115, 190, 264

Standards and publications 66, 120, 196, 271

IES notes 68, 122, 198, 272